Eve has over 20 years experience as a nurse in the health sector, with expertise caring for sick and terminally ill children. This experience has moulded Eve into a person who values life, determination, personal development and attainment of goals. Managing and supporting sick people and their families in often high stress situations provided for Eve her highest job satisfaction.

Diverse in her roles as Front Line Manager, Eve excels in her role as project and event manager paying attention to detail. Extensive experience with a variety of different people and cultures, her background in human resource management, promotions, marketing, networking, and people management skills support Eve's role as inclusive and dynamic trainer.
